RE: Court Reporter Compensation for Reporting Final Arguments in Criminal Cases

Pursuant to Chapter 29, Florida Statutes, 1975, entitled Official Court Reporter, and particularly Section 29.03, an Official Court Reporter is entitled to receive compensation for reporting the final argument of counsel in a criminal case when directed to do such reporting by the presiding judge or by counsel of either the state or the defendant, such compensation being not less than $10.00 for reporting each such argument.

These statutory proceedings are construed to require that when only one party requests that argument of only one side be reported then a $10.00 charge may be made, and if both parties request each of the arguments be reported, then a $20.00 charge may be made. However, in no event shall more than a $20.00 fee be charged in any case, except if there are multiple defendants, separately represented by different counsel and separate arguments are made by such counsel, the reporter may charge $10.00 for each argument made.

This Order shall become effective April 1, 1976.

DONE AND ORDERED in Chambers at Tallahassee, Florida this 31st day of March, 1976.
